

THE DAILY UNION BANNER.

VOL. 1. SALISBURY, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1865. NO. 139

Bill Arp Addresses Artemus Ward.
Rome, Ga., September 1, 1865.

Mr. Artemus Ward, Showman:

Sir—The reason I write to you in particular are because you are about all the man I know in all "God's country," so-called. For some several weeks I have been wanting to say sumthin. For some several years we rebs, so-called, but now late of said county deceased, have been trying mighty hard to do sumthin. We didn't quite do it, and now its veery painful, I assure you, to dry up all of a sudden and make out we wasn't thar.

My frind, I want to say sumthin. I suppose there is no law agin thinkin, but thinkin don't help me. It don't let down my thermometer. I must explode myself generally so as to feel better. You see I'm tryin to soften down my feelings. I'm endeavoring to subjugate myself to the level of surroundin circumstances, so-called. But I can't do it until I am allowed to say sumthin. I want to quarrel with somebody and then make friends. I aint no giant-killer. I aint no Norwegian bar. I aint no boar-constricker; but I'll be hornswaggled if the talkin and the writin and the slanderin has got to be all done on one side any longer. Sum of your folks have got to dry up or turn our folks loose. Its a blamed outrage, so-called. Aint your editors got nothin else to do but to peek at us, and squib at us, and crow over us? Is every man what can write a paragraf to consider us as bars in a cage, and be always a jobbin at us to hear us growl? Now you see, my frind, that's what's disharmonious, and do you jest tell em, one and all, e pluribus unum, so-called, that if they don't stop it at once, turn us loose to say what we please, why we rebs, so-called, have unanimously and jointly and severally resolved to—to—to—think very hard of it—it is not harder.

That's the way to talk it. I aint agwine to commit myself. I know when to put on the brakess. I aint agwine to say all I think like Mr. Etheridge, or Mr. Adderly, so-called. Nary time. No, sir. But I'll jest tell you, Artemus, and you may tell it to your show. If we aint allowed to express our sentiments, we can take it out in latin; and latin runs heavy in my family, sure. I hated a man so bad once that all the hair cum off my head, and the man drowned himself in a hog-waller that night. I could do it again but you see I'm tryin to harmonize, to acquiesce, to bekum kalin and serene.

Now I suppose that, poetikally speaking.

"In Dixie's fall,
We sinned all."

But talkin the way I see it, a big feller and a little feller, so-called, got into a fite, and they fout and fout a long time, and everybody all round kept hollerin hands off, but kep helpin the big feller, untill finally the little feller caved in and hollered enuf. He made a bully fite. I tell you, Selah. Well, what did the big feller do? take him by the hand and help him up, and brush the dirt off his clothes?—No, sur! but he kicked him arter he was down, and throwed mud on him, and drng him about and rubbed sand in his eyes, and now he's gwine about hunting up his poor little property. Wants to confisgate it, so-called—Blame my jacket if it aint enuf to make your head swim.

But I'm a good Union man—so-called. I aint a gwine to fite no more. I shan't vote for the next war. I aint no gurilla. I've done tuk the oath, and I'm gwine to keep it, but as for my bein subjugated, and humiliated, and amalgamated, and enervated, as Mr. Chase says, it aint so nary time. I aint ashamed of nuthin neither—ain't repentin—ain't asking for no one horsn, short-winded pardon. No body needn't be playin priest around me. I aint got no twenty thousand dollars. Wish I had; I'd give it to these poor widders and orfins. I'd fatten my own numerous and interesting offspring in about two minits and a half. They shouldn't eat roots and drink branch water no loneer. Poor, unfortunate thing! to cum into this subloony world at such a time. There's four or five of 'em that never saw a sirkus nor a monkey show—never had a pocket knife, nor a piece of cheese, nor a resin. There is Bull Run Aap, and Harper's Ferry Arp, and Chickahominy Arp that never seed the pictures in a spelling book. I tell you, my friend, we are the poorest people on the face of the earth—but we are poor and proud. We made a bully fite, Selah! and the whole Amerikin nation ought to feel proud of it. It shows what Amerikins can do when they think they are imposed on—"so-called." Didn't our four fathers fite, bleed and dies about a little tax on tea, when not one in a thousand drunk it? Bekaus they sukseeded, wasent it glory? But if they hadent I suppose it would have been treason, and they would have been bowin and scrapin round King George for pardon. So it goes, Artemus, and to my mind, if the whole thing was stewed down, it would make about a half a pint of humbug. We had good men, great men, Christian men, who thought we was right, and many of 'em have gone to the undiscovered country, and have got a pardon as is a pardon. When I die, I'm mity willin to risk myself under the shadow of their wings, whether the climate be hot or cold. So mote it be. Selah!

Well, maybe I've said enuf. But dont' feel easy yet. I'm a good Union man, sertin and sure. I've had my breeches died blue, and I've got a blue bucket, and I very often feel blue, and about twice in a while I go to the doggery and blue, and then I look up at the blue serene heavens and sing the melankolly chorjus of the Blue-tailed Fly. I'm doing my darndest to harmonize, but I think things. When I see a black-nard going around the streets with a gun on his shoulder, why right then, for a few minutes, I hate the whole Yanxy nation.—Jerusalem, how my blood biles. The institution what was handed down to us by the heavenly kingdom of Massachusetts now put over us with powder and ball! Harmonize the devil! Aint we human beings? Aint we got eyes and ears and feelin and thinkin? Why the whole of Afriky has come to town, women and children and babies and baboons and all. A man can tell how far it is to the city by the smell better than the mile-post. They won't work for us, and they wont work for themselves, and they'll perish to death this winter as shore as the devil is a hog, so-called. They are now basking in the summer's sun, living on roastin ears and freedom, with nary idee that the winter will cum agin, or that castor oil and salts cost money. Sam of 'em, a hundred years old, are whinin around about goin to cawledge. The truth is, my friend, sumbody's badly fooled about this bizness. Sumbody has drawd the elephant in the lottery, and don't know what to do with him. He's just throwin his snout about loose, and by-and-by he'll hurt sumbody. These niggers will have to go back to the plantations and work. I aint going to support nary one of 'em, and when you hear anybody say so, you tell 'em "its a lie," so-called. I golly, I aint got nuthin to support myself on. We fout ourselves out of everything exceptin, children and land, and I suppose the land are to be turned over to the niggers for grave-yards.

Well, my frsrend, I don't want much. I aint ambitious, as I used to was. You all have got your shows and monkeys and sirkusses and brass bands and organs, and can play on the petrolyum and the harp of a thousand strings, and so on, but I've only got one favor to ax of you. I want enuf powder to kill a big yaller stum-tail dog that prowls round my premisses at night. Pon honor, I wont shoot at anything blue or black or mule tar.—Will you send it? Are you and your foaks so skereed of me and my foaks, that you wont let us have amynishun? Are the squirrels and crows and black rakoons to eat up our poor little corn patches? Are the wild turkeys to gobble all around us with impunity? If a mad-dog takes the hiderfobly, is the whole community to run itself to death to get out of the way? I golly! It looks like your pepul had all tuk the rebelloby for good, and was never gwine to togit over it. See here my frind, you must send me a little powder and a ticketo your show, and me and you will harmonize se rtin.

With these few remarks I think I feel better, and hope I haint made nobody fith mad, for I'm not on that line at this time. I am trooly your friend—all present accounted for.

BILL ARP, so-called.

P.S.—Old man Harris wanted to buy my iddle the other day with Confedrik money. He said it would be good agin. He says that Jim Funderbuk told him that Warren's Jack seed a man who had jest cum from Virginny, and he seed that a man told his cousin Mandy that Lee had whipped em agin. Old Harris says that a man by the name of Mack C. Million is coming over with a million of men. But nevertheless, notwithstanding somehow or somehow else, I'm dubious about the money. If you was me, Artemus, would you make the fiddle trade?

A CARD

To the Voters of Rowan County.

The undersigned offers himself as an independent candidate to represent you in the House of Commons at the ensuing Legislature. I deem it unnecessary to review my antecedents in connection with the late war, as they are too well known by you to require comments. If elected, I pledge myself to give to the administration of President Johnson the support it demands, and will use every exertion consistent with honor, to procure a speedy withdrawal of U. States troops from the State, and to facilitate reconstruction by the admission of North Carolina to a full participation in all the rights and powers of a State, under the Federal Constitution.

As regards the election of other officers, the statement of any preference I may feel for candidates for any other office, would seem like dictation on my part, and I shall refrain from doing so, as I think every man should vote according to the dictates of his judgment and conscience.

I am uncompromisingly opposed to negro suffrage, restricted or general, in any manner shape or form.

If elected, I shall vote for a Commissioner to recover property belonging to the State, improperly taken during the war, so as to lighten your taxes as much as possible. I shall also favor the election of Magistrates, Judges, and other officers, by the people—as I regard the people the best judges of those who would suit them. I shall also favor hard work, short speeches and short sessions of the Legislature to lessen our expenses. I am a plain man, sprung from the people—one of yourselves—my feelings and sympathies are with the people—I think I understand them, and if elected, believe I can reflect their wishes. Your ob't servant,

D. L. BRINGLE.

MATERIAL PROSPERITY.

It is a common remark that such a place is looking up or seems to be thriving, as the stores are filled with goods, &c. It seems to us that such is an altogether superficial idea, and will not bear the test of scrutiny. Is the selling of goods, wares and merchandise, bringing wealth into the country—is it not a constant and incessant drain upon the capital of the country, or at least the currency?

Is not the money market becoming tighter every day, and is there not an increasing scarcity of the circulating medium? Every stock of goods brought to market is a certain sign of decay. Merchants, or at least successful ones, are shrewd, calculating men—many of them turned speculators during the war and made fortunes, others made safe investments, but, in one way or another, we find enough of them immediately after the war to make a fair guess that they are carrying away, and it never returns—they bring back goods and gather in a lot more of the greenbacks, and carry that out, never to be brought back, and so the process continues ad infinitum. The money you pay to your carpenter, smith, and other mechanics, remains in the country and keeps up the currency. So with the lawyer, doctor and other professional men, and with working men. A country whose imports exceed its exports shows a sad balance sheet. In order to be prosperous, you must produce and export, and as a nation always keep the balance of accounts in your favor. If this reasoning be correct, then we must for our national prosperity look to the farming interest of the country.

The farmers are placed by the emancipation of the slaves in a novel and difficult situation.

The system of free black labor is upon us and the problem of its feasibility has yet to be solved. We think that we should give it an earnest, practical, and fair trial, and we doubt not that it will be done.

Some prefer one plan, and some another. Some are renting their land to freedmen on shares of the crop. We doubt the success of this plan not so much on account of the renter as of its failure even when tried with whites.

Some are hiring the freedmen as hands—we fear this plan will on the large plantations especially the cotton and tobacco farms, also fail. Poor Sambo, is so tricky and cunning himself, that he is jealous of these Southrons. He looks with distrust on every move made for his benefit emanating from former slave owners—he thinks there is some trap to recapture him. He never sees below the surface, and it is impossible for him to philosophize on this or any other subject. It is said somewhere that the "ethiopian cannot change his skin" and we believe that the skin has a great deal to do with his temper, dispositions and bent of mind. He does not feel secure in the right to his liberty—he cannot understand why we should give him this freedom without a price, when we asked so much for him a few months since. The darkey like all ignorant ones is afraid of stoppels, and therefore he is suspicious of a proper command from a Southern employer to him it has the ring of old times in it to acquiesce and cheerfully obey in his opinion might be regarded as a confession of slavery. He lacks moral courage and therefore is easily led astray by the counsels of bad associates.

We hope the experiment may be successful but we very much doubt it. Our land owners who in our opinion, are fully comprehend, and as it were grasp the situation, are employing northern men to superintend their plantations. The darkey will take the word of command from him, and obey. He regards the North man as having a quasi right to command.

But whatever system is finally adopted, we would urge our farmers to curtail the area of their arable land—enclose the meadow and the clover fields—save manure and make manure—and then manure the lands until they yield as in the miserably poor soil of Massachusetts, fifty bushels of wheat to the acre—take papers and magazines devoted to the farming interest—buy books, such as Johnston's Agricultural Chemistry—organize neighborhood societies, and debate subjects of interest to the farmer—attend more to the orchard and the vineyard—buy hill-side ploughs and use them—buy sub-soilers and use them—they will almost be equivalent to a slight covering of manure—buy labor-saving machines of all sorts, and learn to use them and give them a patient trial. Do these things spring at once into a far better condition. Money will flow in—the trades will flourish, and we will have realized the true meaning of material prosperity. Not before.

THE DUTY OF COUNSEL.

There are some people who seem to think, either that certain persons ought not to be allowed counsel or that if counsel appear for them, it should be only to betray. This is a grave error—the humblest individual in the land of any color, is entitled to this privilege. It is one of our guaranteed fundamental rights.

What then, is the duty of counsel—his inflexible duty is to leave no stone unturned in behalf of his client—to take any and every legal objection, however technical, which may promote his interests. His duty can neither be changed or modified by a belief in his client's guilt, derived from, or outside of the evidence.

He is not required to do anything morally wrong, but he should pursue the road to success, and even in so doing, regardless whether he crushes friend or foe. His duty was admirably expressed by Lord Brougham in the trial of Queen Caroline when he declared that "in the trial of a cause I know no one but my client."

THE FIFTH DISTRICT.

We understand that the rumor that the Hon. J. M. Leach had declined being a candidate is certainly correct. We would have noticed the fact before but were not sure whether it was the General or "that other Leach."

"I say, printer, do you take government money?"

"No!"

"What's the reason; is it bad?"

"No—best in circulation."

"Why don't you take it, then?"

"Because we can't get it."

GENERAL NEWS.

New York, Oct. 26. A special dispatch to the Herald from Toronto, C. W., says the Fenian excitement is increasing, and great activity is manifested in military circles. Drills, inspections, enrolling of volunteers, &c., are going on.

Many Irish soldiers in the regular regiments are deserting to the States, and a large portion of the volunteers are believed to be Fenians.

Many Scotchmen are joining the order in Montreal.

In the Saunders kidnapping case the Judge strongly urged a conviction on the jury, who were unable to agree. They have been locked up since Saturday, the Judge declaring that he will keep them confined until they give a verdict.

Milledgeville, Ga. Oct. 26. Mr. Anderson, of Chatham, introduced a resolution to appoint a committee of five to memorialize the President for the release of Jefferson Davis.

Mr. Hill moved for its indefinite postponement, which was voted down. The motion to lay the resolution on the table was also negatived. The resolution was amended to include all Federal prisoners, and was then adopted by a heavy majority.

An ordinance repealing the ordinance of secession was adopted, and the resolutions of the secession convention, which were incompatible with the civil and military laws of the United States, were repealed.

An ordinance to re-district the State was adopted. Seven Congressional districts are thus made.

An election was ordered for the 15th of November for Governor, Congressmen and Assemblymen.

At the afternoon session the Convention refused to receive the State Election ordinance by a vote of 206 to 5.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

We learn that the Hon. Josiah Turner, Jr., will address the people to-day. Mr. Turner is an able and interesting speaker, and puts his case forcibly. Mr. Turner is a candidate for Congress in the 4th District.

Liquor Retailers.

The license heretofore granted by the Military authorities does not protect Retailers from indictment, as the Military do not, we believe aim to protect any one in the violation of the State laws. The law against retailing without a license from the county court is by an Ordinance of the Convention declared in force. The license from the Military only protects against military arrest, the license from the Assessor only relieves from the penalty. But in order to be protected from indictment, a license must be obtained from the county court.

FROM THE LAND OF SUNRISE,

Far off Asia, come the aromatic roots, of which Fragrant Sozodont is composed. In this preparation the chemistry of the toilet has achieved its most remarkable triumph. Pure, unsullied teeth, and agreeable breath, and absolute exemption from all diseases that effect the gums, are the results of a daily application of the Sozodont.

GREAT SOUTHERN MAIL ROUTE.

CARRYING UNITED STATES MAIL, AND ADAM'S EXPRESS THROUGH ENTIRELY BY RAIL TO WASHINGTON CITY, BALTIMORE, PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK AND LYNCHBURG via THE ORANGE AND ALEXANDRIA AND VIRGINIA CENTRAL RAILROADS. 411 MILES CONTINUOUS RAIL—NO STAGING—TRAINS RUN TO BALTIMORE AND OHIO DEPOT AT WASHINGTON CITY, TWICE DAILY.

The Orange and Alexandria Railroad having been put in complete repair, are now running two trains daily between Washington City and Lynchburg, connecting with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Washington, the Virginia and Tennessee railroad at Lynchburg, and at Gordonsville with the Virginia Central railroad for Staunton and Richmond.

Passengers taking this line pass in full view of the various battle fields along the line of the Virginia Central Railroad, between Richmond and Gordonsville, and the famous battle fields of Manassas, Brattle and Cedar Mountain, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, and may rely upon making close and regular connections with the lines indicated. Elegant cars are run upon this line, and every accommodation furnished to make the passengers comfortable.

Through passengers arriving in Richmond by the Virginia Central, Richmond and Danville, and Richmond and Petersburg Railroads, will find Garbers & Co's omnibuses to transport them between depots. Passengers have ample time to dine and sup at Gordonsville, and breakfast and sup at Virginia Central depot.

Trains leave Richmond, daily, (except Sunday) at 7:15 a. m. and 7:15 p. m.; on Sundays, at 7:15 p. m., only, making close and sure connections at Washington with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for the following points:

Baltimore,	Logansport, Ohio,
Philadelphia,	Louisville, Ky.,
New York,	La Crosse, Wis.,
Burlington, Iowa,	Lafayette, Ind.,
Bloomington, Ill.,	Milwaukee, Wis.,
